Islington Piano Teachers's commitment to teaching quality is unsurpassed, and more and more families across Islington and the surrounding areas turn to us for our highest standards in engaged and stimulating piano tuition. Our teachers - many of which have specifically trained in child education - understand the importance of tailoring their teaching approach in line with the ambitions, experience and learning styles of each student they teach. We are recognised for our unique approach to engaging each student through their musical interests, making sure both teacher and student have a lot of fun along the way! We pride ourselves on providing the best piano lessons in Islington and the surrounding areas. Islington Piano Teachers serves the community of Islington and the surrounding areas, and is proud to be recognised by many families to be a leading component in developing their child's education. We pride ourselves on providing premium-quality piano lessons tailored to each individual learner. Our teachers have trained in working to the pace of the student and their unique musical aspirations. They appreciate that for each student their experience is shaped by whether they want to be a concert pianist, pursue music in higher education or simply learn their favourite contemporary songs to play at home – our tuition is built around you and your goals. Lessons are delivered in the student's home environment to encourage increased confidence in their study as well as for the student's convenience. Alongside our bespoke piano lessons we also offer music theory tuition and GCSE, A-Level and university coaching to aid students to achieve their full potential. In addition we run specialist seminars and masterclasses for those seeking to put themselves ahead of the curve for future music careers. All our teachers are educated to the highest standard and are hand-selected for their passion, patience and incredible skill. Teachers are able to offer flexible tuition to suit their student's timetable and can be matched to a student's individual requirements, whether by music specialism, gender or experience with a specific ability level. All of our teachers have an enhanced CRB/DBS check and have experience of working with a wide variety of learners of every age and ability.
