Piano Removals Moving a piano is a specialist skill. It's not just that your instrument may be valuable, it will undoubtedly be precious and personal to you and you'll want extreme caution to be taken with it. Alltranz has the necessary knowledge to take care of such an important task - typically we move at least one piano a week. We ensure: The use of highly experienced personnel Use of the correct equipment designed for the job such as ramps and pulleys Proper protection along the journey so that your instrument does not get scratched or damaged in transit You'll be provided with details of an experienced local piano tuner if needed
