Sebastian Stanley is passionate about music education and is a full member of the ISM. He offers world class exam accompaniment, piano and theory tuition from his home in St Albans City. Half of his students are keen amateur and professional pianist themselves, but all ages and abilities are welcome. Sebastian has 17 years of experience as a teacher, adjudicator, accompanist and has given public masterclasses around the UK. He has also held acclaimed posts in a number of England's top private schools and 100% of past students have gone on to gain distinctions and merits at all graded levels. Select students have been prize winners at various International festivals & also won places at the Royal Academy of Music, Guildhall and Trinity College of Music. Sebastian is always keen to hear from prospective students, so if you are interested in studying with Sebastian, need help with exam preparation, or keen to book him for a public lesson or masterclass then please get in touch.
