Based in Euxton, near Chorley, I teach people young and old. I have many years experience working with children, appreciating their many diverse learning styles. I enjoy teaching different music genres and try to keep up to date whilst ensuring classical techniques, skills and knowledge are developed in the student. I have a 100% pass rate at exams, including theory of music. Music is for everyone and should be shared. My students are encouraged to perform to each other. In addition to playing the piano, I also play the guitar and violin.
