Corinthian was founded in 1994 under the name of Jermy, Goodwin and Co. and has developed into the leading contemporary / traditional furniture makers and specialists in the care, conservation and restoration of antique furniture in the North West. The skilled craftsmen at Corinthian regularly work on antique furniture from the 19th, 18th and 17th century, owned by private clients or the trade. We also undertake private commissions to build museum quality bespoke furniture for the antique trade, interior designers and private homes.
