For some people buying a piano is not an option but hiring is. Our Hire Scheme is a good way to test whether the piano you have chosen is right for you or even whether it is something you would like at all.

It is particularly a good idea for parents with children just starting learning to play the piano, who don't know whether it will be a long term interest or just a phase. It gives you the option to hire a piano for 6 months to see whether you or your children are interested without the burden of having to buy a piano outright. Piano Rental - Purchase Option If you decide to keep the piano after 6 months, then 85% of your rental charge (less delivery) will be refunded against the purchase price of the instrument. You also have the option to upgrade if you are not happy with the current piano and want to upgrade; your rental charge can be offset against a better piano. Alternatively you may decide that the piano is not for you or your children, in which case we will collect the piano at the end of the 6 months at no extra cost and you won't have bought a piano that won't be used! See below for rental examples...
