I am a highly qualified teacher, with over 20 years teaching experience within schools and in my own busy, private teaching practice. Children and adults equally welcome, from complete beginners to advanced pupils, in a friendly environment. I aim to inspire a love of music and of playing the piano that will be a lifelong pleasure. I cover all styles of playing, from classical to popular music. I believe in teaching a broad curriculum which will give students a deep understanding and enjoyment of what they are learning. I am a member of The Curious Piano Teachers who provide me with continuous professional training in the latest and most effective teaching skills. As a teacher, I firmly believe that I never stop learning! Lessons take place during weekday afternoons and evenings.
