I have taught privately since my mid teenage years. Many of my students have been with me for over 5 years. With a rich musical education, I have had the benefit of a wide scope of experience, not only in performance but also in academic music.I believe that music is a voyage of discovery and I actively promote this to my students. I tailor everything not only to the individual but also to each lesson, each day, each concept. I love to inspire my students to embark upon their own voyage of discovery and I take great pleasure and satisfaction in being able to assist.
