Marina is an award-winning classical pianist, experienced piano educator and lecturer, specialising in preventing occupational injuries in keyboard players and promoting various piano and other techniques to help the performer. Her piano teaching methods are based on concentrating in solving the most difficult problems in piano playing as well as working on power of mind. She has over 30 years of experience in teaching junior and adult pianists, from beginners to highly advanced music professionals. Marina's students have a very high passing rate of various piano examinations in the UK, including LRSM and FRSM diplomas, and they perform regularly, often at piano competitions, with many of them winning awards and prizes. As a classically trained pianist, Marina has given over 300 piano performances across the UK and Eastern Europe. Marina has been running the London-based competition Around the Globe Piano Music Festival since 2014.
