Qualified inspiring teacher, developing a strong local following, offering piano lessons for beginners aged 6 - 60+, those benefiting from individualised approaches to fit their learning needs and returning adults. Most effective learning comes from play, and 'playing the piano' achieves just this. I provide happy playing experiences building up not only a sound technique and capability to play from music but also more general music making abilities. For musical development, I also offer vocal training and singing lessons - can be part of piano lesson. I tailor music to fit pupils' tastes, catering also for ABRSM and Trinity practical and theory exams. I teach from Finchley home (grand piano) or may travel in local north London area. Please see website for more details of Finchley Piano and pupil endorsements.
